SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Over $12,000,000 Will be Paid to American Citizens Within the Next Year.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Within a year from July 1, the treasury department will pay to citizens of the United States between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 as bounty for raising sugar. This sum will be disbursed in various portions of the country. The most of it will go to Louisiana for the production of cane sugar. Over $1,000,000 will be paid to the farmers in New England states, New York, Ohio, Illinois and the Northwestern states for the production of sugar from maple sap. A large sum will be distributed in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and California among those who make sugar from beets and sorghum cane. The distribution of such a great sum of money among so many people so widely separated, and the pains that must be taken to prevent fraud upon the government, will be an undertaking of considerable magnitude. Every ounce of the millions of pounds of sugar produced must be weighed and samples of it tested and inspected by government inspectors, who will be appointed for that purpose. This work will be done under the direction of the internal revenue bureau of the treasury department, and will be conducted with such thoroughness and system as to prevent and detect fraud. The bounty to be paid for the production of American sugar is authorized by the tariff law, commonly known as the McKinley bill. The law provides that the producers of sugar which tests 90 degrees by the polarizscope shall receive a bounty of two cents per pound, and those producing sugar testing less than ninety and not less than eighty degrees shall receive a bounty of 1½ cent per pound. The law also provides regulations under which the bounty shall be applied for and paid. There is every indication that the farmers of the west who raise beets and sorghum, the planters of the south with their immense plantations of cane, and the farmers of the north with their groves of maples are fully alive to the fact that the government intends to pay them for their industry in addition to the market price they will receive for their productions, and they mean to get all they can for their products.

PROBABLY MURDER.

Policemen Find Indications of a Bloody Encounter.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 8.—Charles Kehoe, of this city, and two others while walking in the woods near Allington yesterday came across a spot where a severe struggle had evidently occurred. The grass was much trampled and covered with blood, and near by lay a man's hat and coat and a pair of shoes. A handkerchief covered with blood and a lady's glove with the fingers torn off were also found. The police were notified and after an investigation were of the opinion that a murder had been committed. The police, during their search, picked up a lady's bracelet and also discovered traces of blood leading to the river.

A SUSPICIOUS CASE.

A Supposed Suicide Now Said to be a Murder.

ROME, N. Y., June 8.—The inquest on John Sorgenfri, who was found dead in bed at his home on Laurel street, Utica, May 16th, revealed some suspicious circumstances and his wife is now in the Utica jail on suspicions of having caused his death. It was at first thought the man had committed suicide, but the evidence adduced before the coroner showed that the deceased had eaten a hearty supper on the night of his death, while his wife testified that he had not eaten anything. Traces of paris green were found in the food he had eaten.

ADA VERNON DEAD.

The Notorious Companion of Maxwell Commits Suicide.

DENVER, Col., June 8.—Ada Vernon, whose record is pretty well known in Boston and other eastern cities, killed herself yesterday. She first came into prominence in the west as the companion of Maxwell, whose murder of Preller made a sensation on both sides of the Atlantic. After Maxwell was hanged she drifted to Denver, and has been living with a well known politician for more than a year. A quarrel with her lover was the cause of the suicide.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

A Heavy Rain Sweeps Away a Missouri Farm House.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., June 8.—During a heavy rain Thursday night W. H. Lindsay's house and all his out buildings were washed away and two men, employed by Mr. Lindsay, lost their lives. Two strangers, who camped for the night by the bridge between here and Quanah, were drowned. Their identity is unknown.

Earthquake in New Jersey.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 8.—A distinct shock of earthquake from southeast to northwest was felt here yesterday morning.

No Cruelties Inflicted.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 8.—The grand jury of McDowell county have made their report on the alleged cruelties upon the employes of the Norfolk and Western railroad company. They state that no persons of either foreign or native birth have, as laborers upon the road, been subjected to any cruelties.

THE OMNIBUS STRIKE.

Police and Soldiers Join in the War Against the Men.

LONDON, June 8.—Owing to the successful resistance yesterday offered by John Burns to the police, and to the threatening attitude assumed by the strikers as the hour approached for preparing horses and vehicles to leave the stable this morning, the government seems to have determined to take a hand in the strike of the omnibus drivers and conductors. In the darkness of the early morning hour, it was observed that large bodies of troops were, without tap or drum, hurriedly moving toward the buildings used as offices and stables by the omnibus companies. Other heavy detachments were at the same time proceeding to points the authorities feared might become rallying places for the mobs which had yesterday shown themselves not indisposed to meet force by force. Notwithstanding all this preparation, and the renewed activity of the London police force, hardly any passing omnibus of one of the companies is running. All the yards, and the adjacent streets, are strongly picketed by the strikers, who closely scan every person whose appearance suggests the possibility of his being a "black leg." The absence of the buses gives the streets a most deserted appearance. Only the tram cars and a few "pirates" with nondescript conveyances are traveling the public thoroughfares. The latter are charging increased fare. The public seems chary of patronizing either the tram cars or the "pirates," and walking seems to suddenly become quite the thing in locomotion. The "tram" employes, and the passing people generally, have a cheery word for the groups of strikers who are gathered about the street corners. The hostlers entered the yards as usual this morning, but only to feed the horses. More than this they refused to do. All the yards were visited by the strike leaders, who harangued the men, urging them to persevere in their demands. The leaders assured their hearers that they were sanguine of the speedy surrender of the companies. Wherever they appeared the leaders were enthusiastically received by the men, John Burns being especially marked out for congratulations and applause. The directors of the companies are now in conference with a deputation of non-union conductors and drivers, who say they are willing to work if guaranteed adequate police protection.

A DRUMMER'S FLIGHT.

Harry Dreyfees, a "Drummer," Injured and Laid up for Repairs.

Today Harry Dreyfees, a popular traveling salesman for the Commercial cigar company, New York City, hired a rig from L. P. Stapleford for the purpose of making a delivery of goods to his customers. While thus employed the horse raised its hind legs and very scientifically elevated the clever traveling salesman from his perch, causing him to turn a somersault and light upon his agile feet. The hoof of the beast struck Mr. Dreyfees on the left leg inflicting a very severe wound, which Dr. McCaskey says, will confine him to his room at the Aveline for a week.

THE NEW DEAL.

Sec'y Foster Considering the Placement of Two Per Cent. Bonds.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Secretary Foster returned from New York this morning. He stated that his conference in New York with the bankers developed the fact that the bankers would take all the outstanding 4½ per cent. bonds at 2 per cent. or extend the $23,000,000 held by them to secure circulation at 1 or 1½ per cent. rather than have to buy 4 per cent. bonds to continue in the business. He said he had not decided what course to pursue. Later in the day he had an extended interview with the president on the subject. Philadelphia financial matters were also discussed.

INDICTMENT QUASHED.

Gibson, of the Whisky Trust, is Released From Government Custody.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Judge Blodgett this morning quashed the federal indictment against George J. Gibson, the ex-secretary of the whisky trust, who is held for trial on the charge of trying to bribe Government Guager DeWar to blow up Shufeldt's brewery. The judge held that the federal statutes did not cover the crime, which was one to be answered for in the state courts.

A Narrow Escape.

At Huntington yesterday, on the Chicago and Erie railroad, Engineer F. H. Lee and Fireman Pat McMahon narrowly escaped instant death. The latter was in the act of throwing a shovelful of coal in the furnace when the engineer noticed a large tin box among the coal about to be thrown into the fire. He took it up and found it contained enough blasting powder to have blown the engine to atoms. How the powder got in the coal is a mystery.

Charles Fitch is in Boston for the Electric company.

A BLOODY DAY.

Louisville the Scene of One Murder, One Suicide and a Half Dozen Cutting Affrays.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 8.—Sunday will go down on the records as one of the bloodiest days in the history of Louisville. The list of crimes perpetrated yesterday includes a murder, a suicide of a most deliberate character, two cutting affairs which will in all probability terminate fatally, and a dozen other instances, in which a knife or pistol was used with effect. Carl Taylor, a negro excursionist from Frankfort, assaulted and attempted to shoot Conductor William Wilder for protesting against his smashing the car furniture. Wilder's pistol went off first, however, and the negro fell to the car floor dead, with a bullet in his brain. Henry Zenkel, a west end tobacconist and a member of the G. A. R., placed the muzzle of his musket to his head and pulled the trigger with his toe. The whole top and side of his head was blown completely off. The weapon was loaded last when the civil war ended. Drink and domestic troubles caused the act. Two white men became involved in a quarrel with a negro over a game of "craps," and, falling upon him, beat him into insensibility, and gouged out one of his eyes.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

A Well Known Electrician and His Four Children Missing.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Lester L. Bristoll, forty-four years old, living at Jersey City Heights, has been missing from his home since Saturday morning with his four young sons, Louis, William, Dexter and Harry, eleven, nine, seven and five years old respectively. Bristoll is an expert electrician and machinist, and has been employed for twenty years by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company. Mrs. Bristoll, the mother of the boys, is almost distracted with grief. She says her husband has been studying over an electric patent for several months and she thinks his mind is unbalanced. She greatly fears for the safety of her children. The police have been actively engaged in a search for the missing man and children, but up to a late hour last night no clew to their whereabouts had been discovered.

IMPRISONED IN A TUNNEL.

James Metcown Buried Beneath a Mountain.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—An immense cave-in occurred early yesterday morning at the Waterloo mine, severely injuring two men and either crushing or imprisoning a third. Ed. Moran and Tom Elster, who were in the main tunnel, first heard ominous cracking among the timbers overhead and called to James McGowan, who was wheeling ore into a chute further in. A moment more and the timbers crushed together, letting down a great mass of earth. Moran and Elster were hurled against the side of the tunnel. They managed to crawl to the outside, but nothing is known of McGowan.

R. MORGAN FRENCH.

A Prominent and Highly Respected Citizen Called to His Last Reward--The Deaths.

Died of pneumonia, induced by la grippe, at his residence, No. 148 East Washington street, at 10:20 o'clock a. m., June 7, 1891, R. Morgan French.

Rufus Morgan French was born April 1, 1822, in Norwich, Conn., coming to Fort Wayne in 1841. He went to California in 1849 and returned to this place in 1861, since which time he has resided here. March 7, 1854, he was married to Maria O. Rudisill, who, with four children, survive him.

At first he was engaged in the carpenter and building business with his brother, Chas. G. French, and was associated with the late B. W. Oakley as dealers in hardware. In 1859 he became a partner of the firm of Rudisill & Sons, manufacturers of woolen goods, which firm ultimately changed to French, Hanna & Co.

In the short space of five months have thus passed away three of the most interested in that double wedding of March, 1854, viz: Mrs. Elizabeth Rudisill, Newton B. Freeman and R. Morgan French.

The deceased was a valuable citizen. He was a conscientious Christian man whose career might be set up as an example for the rising generation to emulate. He will be sadly missed in this community. Of the children are Lieutenant French, stationed at Fort Wayne, near Detroit, and Mrs. John White, of Pittsburg, who will arrive today.

The funeral will be from the house Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Today Will J. Vesey, of the law firm of Vesey & Heaton, received a telegram announcing the death, this morning, of his wife's mother, Mrs. Judge Studabaker, of Decatur. The lady had been quite ill for some weeks. She was the wife of a former judge of the circuit court in this county, in the days when one judge presided over a circuit of courts. Mrs. Studabaker was a lovable woman who leaves a large number of friends to mourn her loss, among them being numerous ones in this city. Mrs. Vesey was at her mother's bedside for a week past. A number of persons from this city will attend the funeral.

SHAKEN UP.

Earthquakes Severely Shock the Citizens of Italy.

ROME, June 8.—The cities of Verona and Mantua were shaken by an earthquake yesterday. Many houses were damaged. An invalid lady was so badly frightened by the shock that she died.

Lombardy, Venitia and part of Tuscany were visited yesterday morning by repeated shocks. The worst shocks occurred about 2 o'clock in the morning. Shocks were also felt in Venice and Milan.

The center of the disturbance was at Verona. A subterranean noise was heard like the roar of artillery which was followed by three strong shocks. The inhabitants rushed into the streets in great terror. At Marcenigo three persons were killed, and at Badia Calavena seventeen were badly injured by falling houses and chimneys. At the latter place another shock was felt at 6 o'clock in the morning and much additional damage was done.

The movements were undulating in character and were more or less felt over the whole of the north of Italy.

A government commission which was promptly despatched to the districts visited by the earthquake shocks of yesterday have begun their investigations. At Badia Cavalera and Tregnanza the situation was found to be such as to compell the commission to condemn three-fourths of the houses which are still left standing. The buildings will, therefore, as soon as workmen can safely approach them, be pulled down. The fearful subterranean rumblings, followed by earthquake shocks continue, and the alarmed inhabitants have encamped in tents hurriedly pitched in the fields far away from the reach of falling debris. The troops will be ordered to assist in the work of demolishing the dangerous structures, should it be found necessary. None of the persons who were injured yesterday have died.

DIED A-GASPIN'!

The Detroit Base Ball Club Succumbs to Fate--Bay City Abandoned--A Six Club League.

The Detroit base ball club was disorganized today. Bay City, which has been standing ready to be claimed by somebody, will be abandoned and the Northwestern league will continue with six clubs. This will be the outcome of a meeting of the league to be held at Chicago tomorrow. Today Louis Heilbroner, secretary of the Fort Wayne club, received the following telegram:

"Detroit drops out of the league. Meeting at Palmer house, Chicago, tomorrow. Must be there to adopt a schedule. W. S. WALKER."

The Detroit authorities stopped the game yesterday and this gave rise to a general feeling of dissatisfaction that ended in the disbandment.

It is well known that the Detroit base ball club has been a losing venture so far, and it has generally been considered only a question of time before "something dropped." The owners of the team and franchise in the Northwestern league were conscious of the fact that no money could be made playing week day games, but they relied on Sunday games to help them out, hoping to get guarantee crowds during the week, and make money Sundays. In this they have been disappointed.

The receipts have not been over $25 a day, exclusive of Sunday, and the guarantee is $60, so the week's losses would absorb a good part of the Sunday's balance.

The Fort Wayne team did not receive the $60 guarantee for either Saturday's or yesterday's games.

It is asserted that Detroit has not paid its guarantee into the league, and that at last week's meeting in this city the club was given until to day to put up the money.

Secretary Heilbroner said to a SENTINEL reporter today: "The league directors anticipated this and at a resent meeting a six club schedule was arranged. This schedule will be adopted at Chicago tomorrow and everything will go on smoothly.

THE COURTS.

Dr. Spaulding Fined $20 for Practicing Without a License.

The case of the State against Dr. Spaulding, the street medicine man, for practicing medicine without a license, was tried in Justice France's court this morning. James Robinson represented the prosecution and Col. R. S. Robertson the defendant. The doctor endeavored to show that he was not practicing medicine but only showing patients how to use his patent preparation. Justice France did not take his view of the matter and fined him $20 and costs. The case was appealed to the circuit court.

Jacob Myer, the proprietor of the saloon known as the "Hole in the Wall," was fined $1 and costs by Justice Wilkinson for selling liquor to minors. He paid the fine.

Judge Woods, of Indianapolis, will preside, and it is expected that United States Marshal Dunlap, District Attorney Smiley N. Chambers, and Clerk Noble C. Butler, will be present. John Morris, jr., of this city, who is clerk of the court, says that the case pending against Brokaw will be continued, but it is not known what disposition will be made of another case against James Kelly. It is confidently believed that Mr. Brokaw, who is an esteemed citizen, will be dismissed without prosecution, as it is thought that the charge against him of rifling the mails on the Grand Rapids road cannot be substantiated.

Dr. J. Sion Smith has dismissed his suit for divorce in the superior court and paid the costs. Dr. and Mrs. Smith have settled their differences and will continue to live together.

The trial of Groncndyke, the Columbia street saloon keeper, who made a wanton and murderous assault on Chief Wilkinson a month ago, will begin June 17. Judge W. G. Colerick and N. D. Dougbman are his attorneys.

There were two drunks in police court this morning. One of them paid his fine and the other was sent to jail.

A jury at Spokane, Wash., after being out twenty-four hours, could not agree, when the judge ordered them back into the jury room to remain until they reached a verdict. He also instructed the bailiff not to give them anything to eat until they had found a verdict of guilty or not guilty in a highway robbery case. In ten minutes thereafter the jury returned a verdict finding the prisoner guilty as charged.

Mayor Zollinger went to Indianapolis this afternoon on business. He makes a quick trip, returning tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock.

AN ARCADE.

A Handsome Business Block to Go Up on West Berry Street.

Mr. Sears, a prominent citizen of Plymouth, Ind., is in the city today to negotiate for the erection of a large and handsome arcade on the old Fruit House property, on West Berry street. He leased the ground of the Barnett heirs a year ago, and now wants to secure a lease of the ground adjoining, owned by E. P. Williams.

Mr. Sears' plan was to purchase Wayne street property and run the Arcade from street to street. The new building will be a stone front and a handsome ornament to the city.

Prof. Curtner of Chicago remarks that the progress made in surgery of the brain during the last ten years is simply stupendous, that tumors, abscesses, spicules of bone and foreign bodies have been localized, cut down upon and removed, and that of the entire surface of the brain only a small area at the base, less in size than a silver dollar, is exempted from safe operative procedures.

Yesterday morning, Joseph Jollison, the bartender for W. W. Bunge, at Montpelier, was nearly killed. He went into the cellar to change faucets in some beer kegs, and, having lighted a match to see better, he opened the refrigerator door. The gas that had been leaking into it exploded with terrific force. The explosion threw him fifteen feet against the cellar wall, setting his clothes on fire and burning the hair from his head and injuring his hands and face in a frightful manner. The explosion demoralized everything, breaking the glass front of the refrigerator, cracking the brick wall and otherwise injuring the building.

A PECULIAR epidemic is just beginning to make its appearance, or, at least, what is characterized by physicians as an epidemic. It is of a neuralgic nature and consists of the swelling of the face, generally one side only. The enlargement is preceded by a day or two of "gum ache," and it increases until the countenance presents a horribly distorted appearance. The pain finally subsides but the swelling remains, and disappears in from one to three weeks.

CANADA'S PREMIER DEAD.

Sir John MacDonald, the premier of Canada, is no more. The distinguished statesman, who has guided the political destinies of Canada for nearly half a century, passed peacefully away at 10:15 Saturday night surrounded by his family. The Rt. Hon. Sir John Alexander MacDonald was born in Glasgow, Scotland, of Scotch parents, in 1815. Five years later his parents, Hugh and Helen MacDonald, emigrated to Canada and settled in Kingston. He was educated in the Grammar school at Kingston, studied law and before he was quite 21 he was admitted to the bar, and immediately opened an office at Kingston to practice his profession. In 1844 the removal of the headquarters of the legislature to Kingston gave impulse to his yearnings for political life, and the same year Sir John first took his seat in the house of parliament as a representative of Kingston. He was a tory and went to the polls and was returned on that ticket. He continued in parliament for a number of years, until the conservative party was returned to power in 1849 with Sir Arnold MacNab at its head and MacDonald as attorney general. This was five years after he had entered politics, and a year or two subsequently he succeeded Sir Allan as premier of Canada West. Political upheavals occurred during the time intervening to the confederation of Canada and the formation of the dominion government. In the first dominion government, known as the MacDonald Cartier government, in 1867, John MacDonald was appointed premier by Lord Monck, the then governor general of Canada, and he continued at the helm of state for a number of years.

Sir John was premier of Canada during the Pacific railway scandal in 1873, with which most every one is familiar. He had for a number of years past lived at Ottawa with his wife, Lady MacDonald. He was as popular at the club or at his own house and among his friends as he was in politics. He had been the acknowledged leader of the conservative party in upper Canada for the last forty years.

DR. BRIGGS REVIEWED.

Rev. J. M. Boggs Preaches an Eloquent Sermon on the Subject—Other Religious Services.

Yesterday morning, at the Third Presbyterian church, Rev. J. M. Boggs, the pastor, preached on "The Case of Dr. Briggs." He took his text from II Timothy 1:13, "Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus."

As Moses was commanded to make the tabernacle according to the pattern which God had showed him, Paul exhorts Timothy to preserve the pattern of Christian doctrine which Paul had taught him. The word translated form, means pattern, or model. It was to mold all Timothy's teachings. Many houses are built on one plan, but of different material and with different trimmings, so as to give a pleasing variety. But to change the plan is to change the usefulness of the house. A system of doctrine may be the model by which thousands of preachers mold their teachings, and yet that teaching may have much variety in minor matters. But if a minister departs from that model he changes the value, the usefulness of his preaching. Churches also need to hold fast the form of sound words. Every denomination owes it to Christ to guard its pulpits from doctrines which are destructive of Christian faith and if it is right to have different denominations at all, it is a solemn duty to secure the teaching of denominational doctrine. I have no right to preach Arminian doctrine in a Presbyterian pulpit. If I change my views of Bible doctrine, so as to lose faith in Calvinism, I shall ask to be dismissed to the Methodist church. This is common honesty. If I do not, the Presbyterian church ought to compel me do so, or to cease preaching. If dishonestly or mistakenly any minister preaches doctrines subversive of the common faith of Christendom, or contrary to the doctrines of his own church, the church has no right to allow him to misuse his position. If the pulpits need to be so carefully guarded, how much more the theological seminaries, where the future ministry is taught. An error of a tiny rill there, may become a mighty river. The church needs to remember always, however, to hold the truth in Christian faith and love. These are general principles, which may be applied to Dr. Briggs' case.

Three questions may arise in the minds of people—Is Dr. Briggs defective in Christian character? Is he heretical in his theological belief and teachings? Is he a safe teacher in a theological seminary? As to the first question, there seems to be no doubt. No one urges anything against his Christian character, and from many sources come expressions of confidence in his honest, warm-hearted evangelical piety and Christian zeal.

Then, does he believe and teach doctrines subversive either of the great doctrines of the Christian church at large, or of the doctrines distinctively held by the Presbyterian church? This is not the question which was before the general assembly at Detroit. It is the question which is before the Presbytery of New York. The case is not yet tried nor are the charges formulated, but the Presbytery has voted to try him for heresy. He should have a fair, impartial trial.

But much of the evidence is already in, and that evidence is damaging. His firmest friends cannot shut their eyes to that fact. He may be able to produce rebutting evidence, but the burden of proof is now on his side. For several years Dr. Briggs has by his own expressions put his friends on the defensive. They have been apologizing for him. He has known that the church has found it difficult to understand what he means, unless he means what no one occupying his position has a right to mean. Last winter, when transferred to the new chair of Biblical theology in Union Theological seminary, he chose, appropriately, for the inaugural address, "The Authority of Holy Scripture." Knowing that his theological soundness had been questioned, we might suppose that if really orthodox, he would endeavor to make his orthodoxy fully apparent. But instead of that, he blew the most uncertain and offensive bugle blast yet.

He said, "There are historically, three great fountains of divine authority—the Bible, the church, and the reason." "Men are influenced by their temperaments and environments which of the three ways of access to God they may pursue." He refers to Cardinal Newman, James Martineau and Charles Spurgeon as examples of men who have found God in these three different ways. "Spurgeon is an example of the average modern evangelical who holds the Protestant position and assails the church and the reason in the interest of the authority of scripture. But the average opinion of the Christian world would not assign him a higher place in the kingdom of God than Martineau or Newman. May we not conclude that these three representative Christians have each in his own way found God and rested on divine authority."

James Martineau rejects the doctrines of the trinity, the divinity of Christ, the personality of the Holy Spirit, the inspiration of the scriptures, the atonement. It is stretching Christian faith and charity to its utmost limit to believe that he has in any true sense found God at all. When Dr. Briggs remembers that "There is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved but the name of Jesus," how can he be so sure? Dr. Briggs says again: "The essential thing is to find God and divine certainty, and if these men have found God without the mediation of church or Bible, church and Bible are means, and not ends." But does not the Bible teach that the essential thing is to obtain forgiveness of sins and the implanting of a new life, and did not the Savior say, "No man cometh unto the Father but by Me?"

Dr. Briggs seems perilously near to denying the necessity of Christ's atonement to satisfy divine justice. He may not mean that. Let us hope that he can clear himself. He also objects to the verbal inspiration of the scriptures, and their inerrancy, and declares that many of the Old Testament predictions have been reversed by history; and the great body of the Messianic predictions has not only never been fulfilled, but can not now be fulfilled, for the reason that its own time has passed forever." His doctrines of race redemption and progressive sanctification after death, also need explanation. If, in these things, Dr. Briggs is in error, his errors are fundamental. They are not only opposed to Presbyterian doctrine, but to Evangelical Christian doctrine. If he is not seriously in error, but only peculiar and unfortunate in his way of stating Christian doctrine. The question still remains: "Is such a man, who is so injudicious and infelicitous in statement as to seem heretical, and to require continual defense and apology—is such a man, however great his piety and learning, suited to be a theological teacher?" Seven out of every eight delegates to the assembly answered "No," reluctantly, sadly, pain fully answered "No."

REV. VAN SLYKES' SERMON.

"Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus," was the text taken by Rev. W. M. Van Slyke for his sermon yesterday morning at the Berry Street M. E. church. It was an able, practical and interesting discourse. There are certain events in our lives, he said, which we should forget, and others which we should remember. The sins of the past, if they have been repented of and we are striving to lead a Christian life, should be forgotten. It is also our duty to forgive and forget the sins of others against us. In this busy whirl of life these things, which are of the past, ought not to be allowed to come up in memory and mar our usefulness. Forget them, press on in Christian life and let the future atone for the mistakes we have made in the past. There are many things, however, which we should not forget. We ought not to forget, he said, the time of our Christian conversion; we ought not to forget the good deeds of others; we ought not to forget the memory of dead dear ones. These events, by their hallowed influences, aid us in the discharge of life's duties and make us better Christian men and women. But those things which can only bring remorse should be forgotten. We live in the present. The past has gone forever, but the future is before us. Let us improve the fleeting moments as they pass by lives devoted to Christ and earn the prize which is offered to those who are faithful.

Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES.

Yesterday was the third anniversary of the founding of the city department of the Young Men's Christian association, and in the afternoon at 4 o'clock, exercises appropriate to the occasion were held in their hall. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Boggs, after which the president delivered a brief talk. He said the association was organized in this city and the Y. M. C. A. building commenced in 1886. It was completed and ready for occupancy in two years, and since then the effort to pay for the building and maintain the association had been a constant struggle, but he was happy to state that that now the last dollar of their indebtedness had been paid.

Several of the pioneer members of the association then made brief addresses. Mr. J. W. Cromwell was the first speaker. He spoke of the first Y. M. C. A. It was organized twenty years ago, and with M. V. B. Spencer as president, lived for four years. He reviewed, in brief, the history of the present organization, showing how it had started without money, but trusting in God, had been able to exist by the liberality of some of our citizens who had put their hands down in their pockets and paid for its building and its maintenance. He believed the organization had a bright future and urged the young men to step to the front and take an active part in the work.

Dr. Furgeson said when God gives a man a mission to perform, He does not say, "Try and do this." He says, "Now, therefore, go." Go and do it, is the command that comes to each one of us in this Y. M. C. A. work, and all should put their shoulder to the wheel and help it along. It was an organization not simply to keep young men out of saloons but to save souls, and one that ought to receive the earnest support of the membership of every church.

Judge Chapin said he hoped for great good to come from the Y. M. C. A. in this city. When God puts His hand on little things they become great, and His spirit is with this Y. M. C. A. association. The mortar in the building is wet with the tears of the people of God, and the present is but the springtime of its usefulness. The organization will bring thousands of young men to Christ and will redound for years to come to the praise of its founders and will be of incalculable benefit to Christianity.

Mr. McKay made an eloquent and interesting talk setting forth the benefits of such organizations and the great good that this one in our city was doing. He was followed by Mr. E. F. Yarnelle. The sentiment that ought to characterize every one in this Y. M. C. A. work, Mr. Yarnelle said, should be "Here I am Lord, Use me." If we had men enough with a desire in their hearts for the success of the institution, and who would do all that they could do, the Sunday afternoon meetings of the association would be crowded. Are we doing what we ought to do? Let us all work with renewed effort, place ourselves in the hands of the Lord and allow Him to use us as He wills.

Secretary D. F. Bower made the closing speech and the meeting, which was an interesting one throughout, closed with the benediction by Rev. Boggs.

R. R. Y. M. C. A.

Yesterday being the first Sunday in the month the meeting at the railroad branch of the Y. M. C. A. was what Secretary Burns calls a "mixed" meeting—that is, an audience composed of both ladies and gentlemen. E. G. Anderson was in charge and he took for his subject "A Blind Man's Testimony for Christ." His remarks were interesting and instructive and set in motion in the mind of the unconverted a train of thought which it is hoped may lead to many good results. Mrs. S. A. Northrop and some of the members of the Baptist choir were present and greatly added to the interest of the meeting by rendering a few sacred songs. These mixed meetings are held in the afternoon of the first Sunday in each month. It is a new departure and has so far been a wonderful success, and it is expected will increase its usefulness as it grows older.

The Spring Medicine.

The popularity which Hood's Sarsaparilla has gained as a spring medicine is wonderful. It possesses just those elements of health-giving, blood purifying and appetite-restoring which everybody seems to need at this season. Do not continue in a dull, tired, unsatisfactory condition when you may be so much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood and makes the weak strong.

A suggestion: If you are troubled with rheumatism or a lame back allow us to suggest that you try the following simple remedy: Take a piece of flannel the size of the two hands, saturate it with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It will produce a pleasant warmth and relieve you of all pain. Many severe cases have been cured in this way. The Pain Balm can be obtained from druggists.

Prescriptions accurately dispensed, charges moderate, prompt service.

RAILROADS AND SHOPS.

The "Keystone's" First Run—An Attempt to Wreck a Train—Local and Personal.

A large crowd of spectators witnessed the arrival of No. 22, the new "Keystone," at the Pennsylvania depot yesterday afternoon. Among the many persons present THE SENTINEL representative noticed several gentlemen who occupy high positions in local railway circles, and there were scores of conductors and engineers, firemen and brakemen from the various roads which center in this city. No. 22 was on her first run from Chicago to New York; was composed of six vestibule and two baggage cars, and was under the charge of Conductor Thomas Glenn, with Engineer Andrew Koontz at the throttle of engine 224. This is a magnificent train, and it is run at a very high rate of speed. On its run to Crestline the "Keystone" was in charge of Conductor I. Kikley, Engineer B. U. Skinner, Fireman J. Burns and Brakemen John L. Page and James Blackburn. Engine No. 215 hauled the train.

ATTEMPT AT TRAIN WRECKING.

Concerning an attempt to wreck No. 5 on the Grand Rapids, which reaches this city from the south at 3:05 in the morning, the Richmond Palladium says: "The misfortune which befell freight train No. 12, at Geneva, Friday evening, undoubtedly prevented a bad passenger wreck. The freight was delayed so it did not get into Richmond until early morning, and about two miles north of Winchester, encountered an obstruction put on the track, evidently, to wreck passenger train No. 5, leaving Richmond for Fort Wayne at 11:35 midnight. Had No. 12 been on time she would have been in Richmond hours before; no other train was due and the conclusion that the obstruction was intended for the passenger train is undoubtedly correct. The obstruction consisted of two rails set upon the track and fortified by heavy stone, but it only threw the freight engine's wheels from the track, whereas the passenger train, moving as rapidly as it would have been there, would have been thrown no telling where.

WRECK AT ROME CITY.

A disastrous freight wreck occurred at Rome City, thirty-seven miles north of Fort Wayne on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, at a late hour last night. As Engineer John Keintz's train, north bound, was pulling over the hill just south of the village the train broke in two. The engineer, who was pulling several automatic brake cars just behind the engine, applied the air in order to check up for the water plug at the ice house and probably without knowing that his train had parted. The first section had barely halted when the rear section, coming down the grade at a rattling pace, struck the first section. Half a dozen cars were more or less damaged and the main track was blocked for a considerable time. One car jumped the track and ran into the depot platform, crashing the supports to the veranda and narrowly resting against the building.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Richmond boilermakers have struck against the use of a calking machine.

Firemen G. Huber and M. H. Durnell, of the Pittsburg, are taking a vacation.

Henry Lahmeyer and Henry Walbaum, of the Bass shops, have returned to work after a week's absence.

Engineer B. F. Campbell, of the Pittsburg, reported for duty this morning, after some weeks of sickness.

Dr. J. M. Kolls, medical examiner for the Pennsylvania Relief association, went to Chicago on No. 59 today.

The National Association of Local Freight agents is in session at Philadelphia. Fort Wayne is represented.

Casper Keller, of No. 11 Gay street, is the father of a new girl baby. Mr. Keller is employed at the Bass shops.

John McCaffery, of Webster street, has gone to St. Louis, where he has secured employment in a railroad shop.

Patrick Sullivan has been transferred from the Fort Wayne to the Chicago yards of the Pennsylvania company. He is a switchman.

Hon. J. S. Coffin, ex railroad commissioner of Iowa, will arrive over the Pittsburgh road at 7.40 this evening.

John Alter, of the Bass works, went to a barn raising in the country last Friday and has not been heard from since.

Thomas McNoarney, of the Pittsburg car shop, was struck in the neck with a base ball yesterday and severely injured.

Firemen J. Larimore and John O'Ryan are again shoveling coal in Pittsburg engines, having reported after short vacations.

Engineer Hank Jones took Pittsburg engine No. 56 up to Plymouth last evening, and this morning brought in the accommodation.

Jerry Denahy, of the Pittsburg machine shop, is making arrangements for an extensive western trip. He will leave about the 20th inst.

Edward Challenger, clerk for the boiler department of the Pittsburg shops, was absent from his desk today. Cause is unknown.

Mr. Hix, of Chicago, who had been here applying the new Q. & C. door to the Pittsburg box cars, returned to his home this morning.

Firemen D. J. Hoynes and C. Miller, of the Pittsburg, have reported for duty. The former was sick and the latter was taking a vacation.

Gas connections were made with the Electric Light works yesterday, and steam for running the machinery is now made by use of this very convenient fuel.

Mortimer D. Shaw, vice grand master of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, arrived at 5 o'clock this morning over the Wabash and is a guest at the Wayne hotel.

The ten-year old son of F. Boesmer, the South Broadway blacksmith, was wrestling with a playmate last evening, when he fell and sustained a fracture of an arm.

The Wabash will bring two large excursion parties into this city a week from next Sunday. One is the Teutonia Maennerchor of Toledo, and the other comes from Lafayette.

The Lake Shore company has issued an order that their employes shall not board where intoxicating liquors are sold, and any employe not obeying this order will be discharged.

Following is the output from the Pittsburg car shops for the week ending June 6: Gondola cars, 22; cars repaired, 127; average of old cars repaired and new ones erected, 24 5-6.

William Meyers, the Pittsburg blacksmith, received a telegram this morning from Chicago announcing the death of his brother in that city. Mr. Meyers left at 1 o'clock for Chicago.

The blacksmiths of the Bass works have accepted the challenge of the car wheel boys to play ball. The game will take place Sunday morning and the public anxiously awaits the result.

The third steam hammer was set in motion in the new blacksmith shop of the Bass works this morning. This leaves only one more hammer in the old shop, and it will probably be removed tomorrow.

Charles S. Andrew, editor of the Telegrapher, of Chicago, the official organ of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, came in on the Nickel Plate this afternoon, and he will attend the union meeting tomorrow.

L. Crabill, fireman on the Grand Rapids, who was off duty on account of sickness in his family, reported and took out his engine this morning. Fireman W. Rehling, of the same road, also reported for duty this morning.

Forty-eight hours is the time allotted by the Car Service association for unloading cars after they arrive at their destination. Consignees will have to pay a demurrage charge of $1 a day if the rule is not observed.

There will be a union meeting of railway clerks at Put in-Bay the latter part of June. It is proposed to run excursion boats from Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland and to make one of the chief features of the meeting a grand banquet.

The boycott against the Alton, judging from the earnings of the road for the month of May, 1890, which are $21,240 in excess of the same month of 1890, is a flat failure. It is about time the other companies looked at this matter in its proper light.

The following Pittsburg firemen were promoted to passenger runs: Joseph Cattez, with Engineer Hilliker; James Larimore, with Engineer Gates; Miller, with Engineer Durnell; Frank Schiverin, with Engineer J. Q. McClellan, and Bailey Hedges, with Engineer Mooney.

Orders have been issued on the Pennsylvania lines, instructing the conductors that free transportation of young fish in cans, fish eggs in crates and free return of empty cans in baggage cars of passenger trains has been granted. This is done to aid the United States fish commission in stocking different streams with fish.

It is to the interest of every citizen in Fort Wayne that the grand union meeting here tomorrow be a success. Conventions bring lots of strangers to the city who put money into the pockets of our merchants, hotel and restaurant keepers. Let every one do what they can to aid the railroad boys in their demonstrations tomorrow.

If you do not receive your SENTINEL regularly, please notify us immediately, either in person or by postal card, that we may remedy the fault.

THEY FOUND IT.

A Trio of Girls Tell Their Experience at the "Noon Rest."

Girls, girls, why don't you go to the "Noon Rest" to eat your lunches? Perhaps you were like we were Saturday; don't know where it is. Well, we can tell you where to find it. We started out in a very business-like manner and inquired our way along. The first lady we met on Berry street, after crossing Calhoun, we asked if she knew where the "Noon Rest" was situated. She looked wise and said she didn't know exactly, but that it was "somewheres." Being assured of this, we went on our way rejoicing. The next person we met said in reply to our inquiry that it was "up there," pointing with a gentle wave of his hand to the sky over Court street. We thanked him also for his information, and turning up Court street we went up the first flight of stairs in the Foster block and found ourselves in a hall, and, as we were inclined to think we were in the right way, for it was so straight and narrow, we turned neither to the right or left until we came to a stairway leading down to Clinton street, where we saw the words "Noon Rest" on a glass door, and we went in.

When we had seated ourselves and arranged our strawberries, etc., at a little snowy white table in one corner we asked for bread and butter and a cup of coffee. This was served so promptly that a real feeling of home-like comfort and rest came with it. Then we ate and talked about many things, "for girls will talk, you know." Our dear old poet may discourse wisely "over his tea cups" but our conversation over that coffee was called "just lovely" or the bread and butter "too delicious." You must remember how the average American girl expresses herself and expect to find things much better than such plain language would indicate.

After looking at the "hand-painted" pictures and other things of interest we paid our bill, which, by the way, is one of the most dainty attractions of the charming place, and came away mutually agreed not only to return again but to tell everybody of the kindness of the great loving hearts that had planned such a "rest" for us.

W. R. Steele, of Washington, D. C., who was the guest of Mayor Zollinger, has gone to Kalamazoo, Mich., where he will shortly engage in the newspaper business. He will make a trip to the Pacific coast first. Mr. Steele formerly published a weekly paper in this city, but of late years was connected with one of the government departments at Washington. He has many acquaintances in Fort Wayne.

It will pay you to buy your foot wear at the Chicago shoe store. No matter what others sell for, we will do better.

Excursion.

On account of the dedication of the new K. of P. Temple at New Castle, Ind., June 9, the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville railroad will make a rate of one fare for round trip, tickets good going June 9, return limit June 10.

CHILDRENS' DAY

Beautifully Observed at the Second Presbyterian Church.

Childrens' Day was observed yesterday afternoon at the Second Presbyterian church in a very beautiful and interesting manner. The children met in the Sunday school room and at 1 o'clock marched into the audience room, where seats had been reserved for them. The church was crowded, and was beautifully decorated, flowers seeming to be everywhere, around the pulpit and in the windows, while canary birds sang sweetly from cages in different parts of the room. The program opened with a selection from the chorus orchestra, and during its rendition the children of the Sabbath school marched in. Then followed the program of twenty numbers, the most interesting features of which were a class exercise by Mrs. F. W. Antrup's class; song, "I am a Little Pilgrim," by little Ida Morrison; cornet solo by Master Joe Weibel, from the feeble minded school; "Growing up for Jesus," by Mrs. Smythe's class of girls, and the pastor's address. Each number was excellently rendered and the program was one of the most interesting ever given in this city on Children's Day. The choirister, Dr. Johnson, and the church orchestra contributed greatly to the interest of the exercises.

Children's day at the first U. B. church yesterday was a great success. At the concert last night the house was literally packed. Large numbers could not find admittance. The program, consisting of anthems, quartettes, select reading and recitations, was rendered to the delight and satisfaction of all present.

BRIGHTER AND BRIGHTER

Grow the Prospects for the Knights of St. John Convention.

The prospects for the Knights of St. John convention to be held here June 22 to 25 grow more promising each day. Last evening the executive committee met with John B. Monning, the president, in the chair. The corresponding secretary, Dennis Gorman, was instructed to extend an invitation to all of the non-uniformed societies in the city and also an invitation to the mayor and police force to participate in the grand parade on the 24th. A committee consisting of John Suelzer, John Wagner and Frank McBennett, were instructed to have a reviewing stand erected at the corner of Webster and Wayne streets, so that the judges may inspect the procession. A committee on decorations, consisting of J. J. Studer, D. Gorman, Frank Brueseker, John Muldoon and Ed. Ehrman, was appointed. The president was authorized to advertise for bids for the privileges at the fair ground, where the prize drills will take place after the parade.

The St. Bernard branch, C. K. of A., met yesterday afternoon and transacted business relating to the coming convention. The following delegates to the convention were elected: Louis Fox, P. H. O'Rourke, P. Ryan, H. C. Grafle; alternates, Joseph Nichter, W. H. Dreier, John Brannan, John O'Connell. This branch elected George P. Gordon marshal of the organization on the day of the parade. A number of subscriptions were made.

President Monning, of the executive committee, said: "Letters announcing the coming of delegates continue to come in. We will have 3,000 men in the parade. Among the letters just received is one announcing the coming of a big colored commandery of Washington, D. C. The prospects are bright for a very successful meeting.

THE SENTINEL is requested to state that there will be no intoxicating drinks of any kind sold on the fair grounds on the day of the prize drill.

Base Ball as the Game Was Years Long Gone by.

How many of those who attend the base ball games of today are able to identify the game as it was played years ago? Methinks could the departed spirit of some of the old time artists return, they would fail to recognize the present game. Then it was a very poor limited that could not boast of one or two clubs each. There were no leagues and in consequence no schedule of games. Challenges flew thick and fast, and each challenge stipulated for three games, viz: The first on the challengers grounds, the second on the challenger's, and if the third be necessary, it to be played on neutral soil.

The uniform consisted of a particolored cap, a belt, and such trousers and shirts as the players possessed. There were no enclosed grounds and the attendance was most liberal. Business men would close their houses and it was a common sight to see old men and young men, rich and poor, sitting astride the top rail of a stake and ridered fence, while with knife in hand they would keep tally by notching the rails. The ladies would turn out en masse and form lines along the foul lines and applaud every play. Next to the President of the United States the captain of each team was the greatest man on earth. The umpire was not the sorely abused person of today but was regarded with great respect. The ball used was of a lively disposition, and would give a fielder a chase on the slightest provocation. Then they pitched the ball with a straight arm and knew nothing of in or out curves, drops or up shoots. Masks were unknown, and as a precautionary measure the catcher would take his position about thirty feet back of the home plate, where he contented himself by putting out batemen either on foul bounds, flys or strike out on bounds. Balls were not called on the pitcher, nor strikes on the batter, unless he struck at and missed the ball. A batter could call for a ball either knee, hip or shoulder high and could wait for such a one before striking at it. Double or triple plays were total strangers, and when once a base runner reached the first he was sure of the round, and would often run home while the ball was passing from pitcher to catcher and vice versa. A game usually lasted all afternoon, and it was considered a very poor one if the scores did not reach fifty or more on either side. Home runs were more plentiful then than base hits today, and no account was taken of a single, double or triple bagger. At the conclusion of the game the umpire would take the score sheet and announce the result of the game, when the captain of the home club would line his men up and propose three cheers for the visiting clubs, who would return the compliment, and then both teams would give three rousing cheers and a tiger for the umpire, and then adjourn to a hotel where the visitors were entertained by the home team. These were great games, even if the newspapers did not give a column report of them.

DARWIN used to go into the Zoological Gardens in London, and, standing by the glass case containing the cobra di capello, put his forehead against the glass while the cobra struck out at him. The glass was between them; Darwin's mind was perfectly convinced as to the inability of the snake to harm him; yet he would always dodge. Time after time he tried it, his will and reason keeping him there, his instinct making him dodge. The instinct was stronger than both will and reason.

SO MANY glassworks are being erected in this country, more especially for plate-glass manufacture, that it is becoming a question as to where the skilled workers are to be obtained to fill them. The number of furnaces and pots at present operating and in course of construction is 1,090, of which 310 have been put into operation since 1888, and 390 will all be ready for operation soon. The manufacturers say that at least 1,500 skilled men will be necessary to fully equip these new works.

ACCORDING to a writer in the Nation, the Mafia have a playful manner of indicating to the friends of one of their victims the wherefore of his removal. If he has overheard the secrets of the society, his ears are cut off; if he has seen more than it is safe for one man to see, the skin of his forehead is flayed and turned down over his eyes; or if he has injured one of the Mafiosi, a hand is cut off. These mutilations do not hurt the victim, who is dead before they are inflicted, but they convey a lesson that is seldom lost on his surviving relatives.

A QUARTER of a century since the average doctor was almost everything. He was physician, surgeon, oculist, and now and again in case of emergency would pull a tooth. We are taught to believe that specialism in medicine is a modern invention. But read this from an old a writer as Herodotus: "The Egyptians have among them a great number of physicians. But each man is a physician of one part of the body only, for one healeth diseases of the eyes, and another diseases of the head, and a third diseases of the teeth." Verily, there is nothing new under the sun.

MERGENTHEIM'S BAZAAR

Northwest Cor. Main and Calhoun Streets, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Stewart & Hahn,

Kensington Crochet Twist and Glasgow Twilled Lace Thread are perhaps trifling things to advertise, but we are selling a good deal of both.

Lovers of Fancy Work should call and see them, and the samples of Tidies, &c., that we have to show, made from them.

Our new F. P. Corset at $1.00 is considered a formidable rival to the P. D. It is the best long waist Corset in the country at the price.

We have a large stock of Ladies' Belts, Fans, Umbrellas and Parasols, that are exceptionally good value, in the newest styles.

We have just bought a case of men's heavy blue and white Shirtings, the regular 10c. goods, 30 inches wide, which we will sell as one of our leaders at 8c. per yard while it lasts.

New styles just received of children's Lace, Lawn and Silk Caps and Hats.

Our assortments of sizes of window screens is once more complete. This notice is for the benefit of those who have been waiting for them.

LOOK OUT!

"Imitation is flattery," but we are not flattered by the imitation of our flour going on in Fort Wayne. Those parties trading reputation of our flour imitate brand and sack. They doubtless never heard of that great ship which brought to our shore the "choicest of the wheat." Please insist on having the words "Mayflower Mills" on every sack of flour you purchase.
